TMS MEETUPS

BOOKLET

Welcome to

THE MIXED SPACE.

During this live event, we encourage all of you to ask questions in the chat as you think of them. There will also be space to share out loud, which you can do by raising your hand and we can call on you. We ask that all shares are limited to 3 minutes to make sure everyone has the opportunity to participate.

ABOUT US

The Mixed Space's purpose is to create more space, visibility, and equity in the world for marginalized folks and those who feel pushed out of dominant society. We strive to continue to expand our awareness and be a stronger support system for our community members. The Mixed Space is a stage for all people to share their personal voice about their mixed identities.

A PLACE FOR STORIES OF THE PAST,
THE PRESENT AND THE FUTURE.

We define mixed as,

“ANY INDIVIDUAL EMBODYING THE SPACE BETWEEN DEFINED RACIAL AND CULTURAL CATEGORIES.”

There is common experience in identifying as mixed, with collective privileges and collective traumas. We hold space for the exploration of this multidimensional identity by building community through conversation and collaboration.

LAND ACKNOWLEDGMENT

“A land acknowledgement is a critical step towards working with native communities to secure meaningful partnership and inclusion in the stewardship and protection of their cultural resources and homelands. As many of us are settlers, immigrants, or descendants of those forcefully brought to this continent, our institutions were founded upon exclusions and erasures of the Indigenous peoples whose land we are located. We honor and are grateful for the land we occupy and recognize the ongoing damage of settler colonialism. Land acknowledgment demonstrates a commitment to beginning the process of working to dismantle the ongoing legacies of colonialism and the pursuit of truth and healing.”

This statement was generously shared with the Smithsonian Asian Pacific American Center by the California Indian Museum and Cultural Center in Santa Rosa, California.

DISCUSSION GUIDELINES

01. Engagement Encouraged

Please raise your hand to add a comment / question. We encourage members to snap or wave when they hear something that resonates with them.

02. Oops / Ouch

Say “ouch” if someone says something that hurts you. Say “oops” and genuinely apologize for the ways your intention did not match your impact.

03. ~~I'm Sorry~~, I'm Sexy / Sassy / Strong / Sacred

To break the habit of over-apologizing, especially amongst women & femmes, we choose alternate options in lieu of “I'm sorry.”

04. Move in, Move out

Are you someone who knows they take up a lot of space in a conversation? Alternatively, do you prefer to listen and sometimes can't find the right moment to interject? Try to be mindful of these behaviors and move in and move out when needed. This helps other people do the same.

05. Identifiers

Name yours and respect others (eg. pronouns, racial identifiers).

06. Mean what you say

We can't control other members' responses but we can make sure we're putting thought into our words and being held accountable if need be.

07. Use Trigger Warnings

Protect people in the space by letting the group know if you are about to share something that can be triggering.

08. Confidentiality

Share your learning, not the other person's privacy. Ask permission from the person before sharing content outside the group.

09. Disagree with the idea, not the person

This is a space for constructive dialogue. Avoid making personal attacks and focus on “I” statements.

10. Moments of Growth

TMS moderators see conflict as an opportunity for shared growth. We believe if the community guidelines are followed this can be achieved.

THE BILL OF RIGHTS FOR People of Mixed Heritage

I have the right to:

- Create a vocabulary to communicate about being multiracial or multi-ethnic.
- Change my identity over my lifetime & more than once.
- Have loyalties and identification with more than one group of people.
- Freely choose whom I befriend and love.

... Identify myself differently:

- Than strangers expect me to identify.
- Than how my parents identify me.
- Than my brothers and sisters.
- In different situations.

... And not:

- Justify my existence in this world.
- Keep the races separate within me.

The Multi-racial

OATH OF RESPONSIBILITY

I recognize the people who have made it possible for me to affirm my multiracial identity:

- They are my relatives, friends, and mentors;
- They are people who have crossed color lines to fight discrimination;
- They are people who identified as multiracial before this choice was recognized;
- They are people who have exposed and explained the suppression of multiraciality.

I strive to improve race relations;

I know that race and ethnicity are not solely defined by one's genetic heritage;

I refuse to confine my choices in love or loyalty to a single race;

I make efforts to increase my knowledge of U.S. racial history;

I know that race and ethnicity can be used as political, economic, and social tools of oppression;

I must fight all forms of oppression as the oppression of one is the oppression of all.

I recognize that oppression thrives on fear and ignorance;

I seek to recognize my prejudices and change them;

I know that it is neither helpful nor productive to argue over who is more oppressed;

I recognize that my life interconnects with all other lives;

I will make a difference!
